Guide for Remote Speakers at the Conference

This guide covers the MTS Link platform's English interface (the same service known in Russian as «Встречи» / “Vstrechi”), used for events where the interface language is set to English — the screenshots below show exactly what a remote speaker will see when connecting and presenting.

0. Before You Connect

Please use the Google Chrome browser (Microsoft Edge and Yandex Browser also work). You can download Chrome at: <https://www.google.com/chrome/>

1. Join the Meeting

Open the link to connect to the conference in Google Chrome — the link will be posted on the conference website. Before you can join, you will need to type your name. Please use the following format: First Name Last Name. Then click “Join Event.”

Entering your name to join the event

2. Allow Camera and Microphone Access

Your browser will ask for permission to use your camera and microphone. Click “Allow” — without this the platform cannot capture your audio and video.

3. Choose Your Camera and Microphone

Pick your camera and microphone in the setup window before entering the meeting. Once everything is configured, click “Join to Meeting.”

Choosing your camera and microphone before joining

Please keep your microphone muted when you first connect to the conference, and unmute it only when it's your turn to speak.

4. Control the Microphone and Camera

Once you are inside the meeting, click the microphone or camera icon on the bottom panel at any time to mute or unmute yourself, or to turn your camera on and off.

5. Go On Air (Plenary Speakers Only)

If you are presenting during a plenary session, click “Go on air” in the top-right corner when it’s your turn to speak — this switches on your stream for all participants.

6. Share Your Screen to Present Your Slides

Click the “Screensharing” icon on the bottom panel to share your computer screen with all participants.

Choosing “Screensharing” from the menu

Choose the “Desktop/Window” option, then select the screen you want to share.

Selecting the screen to share

Click the “Share” button to share your entire desktop (or the window/tab you selected).

7. Leave the Meeting

When you are done, click the red button in the top-left corner of the screen to leave the meeting.
